Girl Softballers In First Tilt Monday Night

Hawaiian Gardens will furnish the opposition for the Cypress Devilettes Monday night at 7:30 when they tangle in the first softball game of the season on the local diamond at the schoolhouse.

With W. C. Miller coaching and Aubrey Greenwade as manager, prospects for an encouraging season are good.

Most of last year's players are back again, and the experience they received in last year's competition will help field a group of veterans.

Although the final selections have not been made as to definite players for the positions in Monday night's game, the following is the last of tentative prospects who have been reporting for practice.

POOR FISHING

"Barney" Barnhart was told by the doctor that a few days on the desert would do more to chase the old "flu" bug out of his system than any medicine. So the inveterate fisherman needed no further word of encouragement to use a few accumulated vacation days to motor to Palo Verde on the Colorado river.

He left Wednesday and returned Saturday. Result, one fish and a marked improvement in health. A strong desert wind ruffled the water during the daytime making angling a poor sport.

BANK OF AMERICA OFFICIAL SENDS REPORT TO CHAMBER ON BANK POSSIBILITIES

Recent attempts by the Chamber of Commerce to interest banks in Cypress for the location of a branch brought a reply last week from Ira E. Ogden, vice president of the Bank of America.

Ogden said that his organization was constantly noting the growth of Cypress and was encouraged to see how rapidly it continued to expand. He added, however, that even with these signs, he could give no encouragement for the establishment of a branch here in the immediate future. He assured the chamber that the bank would continue to check periodically with the growth.

Compilation of statistics which will give an estimated wealth and population of Cypress are still being made by Phillip McLaughlin and his committee, however, which will be sent in to the Bank of America to fulfill a previous request they made.

MOST RAINFALL

According to the figures being kept by Richard Wallace from the "rainmeter," Cypress enjoyed heavier rainfall on Friday, April 8, than any other spot in the county. Rainfall amounting to .52 on that day, and for the following day .60, made the total 1.12 inches.

Added to the rainfall for the season, the figure stands at 10.41 to date, or an increase of 2.07 inches over the same time last year.

There is still some time to go yet when rainfall is plausible. However, during April last year, only .01 and .03 inches were recorded for April 17 and 18, then no more until May.

KREISSLER, ROGERS ATTEND DAV CONFAB

H. J. G. (Happy) Kreissler, commander of Cypress VFW Post No. 9847, and C. R. Rogers, quartermaster-elect, were among those in attendance at a Disabled American Veterans meeting at Santa Ana last week, at which the DAV national commander David Brown was the principle speaker.

Many Orange county notables were present to hear Brown give the attitude of his organization toward the present administration's actions in regard to the nation's veterans. In this respect, he criticized the Hoover commission's report, asying that veterans organizations were in favor of economizing, but not at the expense of cutting out veteran aid programs.

He also attacked the government in its program of cutting down on veteran's hospitals when the need for more of them was more apparent than ever before.

EASTER BREAKFAST

Mr. and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin entertained a host of relatives and friends at breakfast Easter Sunday morning in their spacious home at 5302 Lincoln Ave.

The small children enjoyed an Easter egg hunt, the novelty of which kept them interested throughout the day.

Present were Dr. Philip McLaughlin and wife of Los Angeles, cousins; their son Philip and wife and son Michael, of Los Angeles; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sanders and son Larry, of Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunter and Billy and Kathleen, 5622 Saint Ann; and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor, of Whittier.

CHAMBER APPROVES HAY LOT WITH NO DISPUTING VOTES

There was no argument to the proposal of Haskell Kelley to establish a hay lot on his recently purchased property just west of Walker St. on Lincoln Ave. at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night.

Not wishing to establish a business that did not meet with the approval of the townspeople, Kelley voluntarily put the proposal to a vote even though he probably could have gone ahead with his plans against the community's wishes. This could have been done due to the fact that his new property is under the retail and wholesale zoning section according to the county planning commission.

The question was put before the members for discussion, and Kelley was asked to tell exactly what his plans were. He explained that the hay business was probably temporary, trucks would be parked on the back of his lot and not on Lincoln Ave., and he was to leave a fence up between his lot and the residence next door.

After there were no objections from the members, a vote was taken and the result was unanimously in favor of the lot.

Income From Circus

Jim Broadbelt, president, reported on the financial returns from the Sparton Bros. Circus which appeared in Cypress last week, endorsed by the chamber. Under a percentage arrangement with the circus, Broadbelt said the chamber netted $25.82 for its treasury.

Frank Noe Loses Pot

The Christmas Kitty drawing was held and Frank Noe lost four dollars because he wasn't present. The money will be carried over until the beginning of next month when it will be added to the sum which has accumulated by that time.

Memberships were received from Sandy's service, Mrs. Olive Williams and Haskell A. Kelley at Monday evening's meeting, bringing the total to 52.

The April business meeting of the Cypress Women's Community club was held Tuesday afternoon in the R. V. Hathcock home, 5382 De Long St. Mrs. Hathcock was assisted in hostess duties by Mrs. Russell Flynn. Members and their guests were served the usual dessert refreshment prior to the business session, which was apple pie ala mode and coffee. Mrs. Hathcock had decorated throughout her home with attractive arrangements of spring blossoms, most of them from her own garden.

A message to the club was read from Mrs. Margaret Jensen who sent her greetings since she is unable to attend daytime meetings. The secretary was instructed to send a card to Mrs. James Bryant, a member of the group who has been seriously ill. The group noted with pleasure the presence of Mrs. Emily Fernandez on her first attendance at a meeting following an extended illness. Mrs. Sara Miller favored with a reading, "My Childhood Home."

Mrs. Olive Williams was reelected to serve another term on the Cypress Recreation park board, Inc. as a representative of the club. It was voted to subscribe the sum of two dollars a month toward the fund of the organization being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to act as a council in case of disaster or emergency.

Mrs. Colvin, Mrs. Corby and Mrs. Decker were chosen by the president, Mrs. Murton Jones, to act as the hospital committee this month. Final plans were made for the spaghetti dinner sponsored by the group at the school cafeteria the following evening.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arden Hambly, 5312 Bishop St. She will be assisted by Mrs. C. E. Swain and Mrs. Barbara Young.

I RISE TO REMARK

by John Phillips

It has been interesting during the past several weeks to note in district newspapers the amount of space given to the "spy" charges by Senator McCarthy, and the quick denials of persons named by him.

In general, I think, the coverage and comment on these sensational stories by the nation's press and radio have been so dominated by emotionalism that the real issue and the real problem have been obscured.
methods of making charges on the floor of the Senate are open to considerable criticism, he has, nevertheless, shown and pretty well documented the fact that a

While Senator McCarthy's few persons in high places—but far too many of them—have been closely identified with communists, communistic groups, or organizations fronting for the Soviet. Such association is not a crime. But such association, in my opinion, makes these people definitely undesirable in government service, or as advisors to our officials.

Struggle

We are engaged now in a very real struggle against communism and the Soviet government. When our own survival as a free nation is at stake, it is a grave and tragic error to employ in any department of government—especially the State or Commerce Departments — persons who are publicly sympathetic to communism. We can't take the chance. and similarly, we can't take a chance on people about whom there is a reasonable basis for suspicion.

That is what the Senator is driving at, although his methods have not been clear in all instances. He has made some pretty broad charges and stepped on some pretty big toes. In the storm of criticism which immediately followed his speeches—and some of it was violent—his errors were magnified and his remarks were distorted. Standing alone, he is the target for a huge array of Administration power and brains. The substance and meaning of his charges have, I believe, intentionally been buried under personal side issues.

Branded

Officially, the Administration has branded the McCarthy testimony as a "whole school" of red herrings. (Remember, the President also called the Hiss charges a "red herring.") The Administration has also refused to open the State Department loyalty records, or the Civil Service commission loyalty records, to inspection by the committee. If these files would absolve the accused, one would think the Administration would be quick to open them.

Despite the abuse the Senator has taken and is taking, it is not strange to observe from the mail and other sources, that there is a great deal of public sympathy for McCarthy. There can be only one reason for this: a majority of people believe (and believed before McCarthy raised his voice) that there is something rotten in the executive branch of our government.

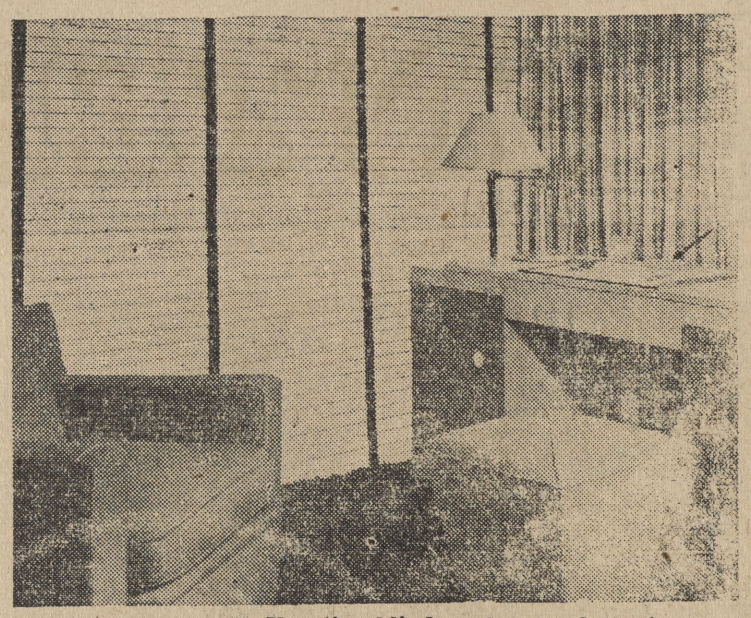
People Right

I rise to remark that these people are right in that opinion. There has been too much thoroughly substantiated evidence to believe otherwise.

Large or small, these ugly and dangerous problems should be dealt with quickly and effectively, NOW, and not hidden, concealed or pooh-poohed, as the administration is doing.

The admission by the Deputy Under Secretary of State, John E. Peurifoy, that nearly 100 sex perverts had been fired from the State Department as "bad security risks" indicates that something is tragically wrong. This subject will be discussed at length in another column.

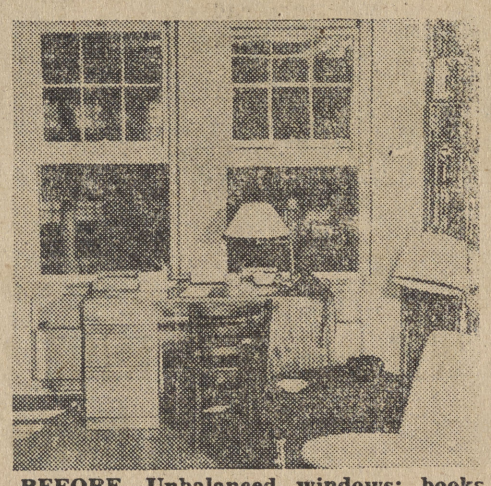
Modern Rooms From Old With Venetian Blinds



AFTER—Floor-length Venetian blinds and draw draperies combine to provide yesterday's room with today's fresh look.

Here's a new dramatic treatment for walls and windows: ceiling-to-floor Venetian blinds and draperies hung side by side as separate decorating units. The result is a lavish and exciting background for good furniture arrangement.

And the cost is comparatively inexpensive—welcome news for young moderns in old houses. Leaning toward clean-limbed contemporary furniture, the new married generation frequently is hard put to establish harmony between functional furnishings and rococo architecture.



BEFORE—Unbalanced windows; books and records exposed to dust.

Fast Answer

The solution is quick and easy: create new "walls" with large Venetian blinds and colorful draperies. Not only will they infuse new life into old rooms, but will eliminate many problems in balance and arrangement. Architectural faults no longer will dictate where to place furniture.

Decorators who have applied this treatment advocate that the Venetian blinds cover as much of the problem wall as possible. And size is dramatic, an important factor that can be amplified by choosing one of the new satin-finish pastel shades for the blind slats, contrasting colors for the tapes.

The drapery covering the adjoining wall can be hung flush against the blind or several feet away, depending on taste and circumstances. One of the inspired "modern art" print fabrics will offer interesting contrast against the blind.

There are hidden advantages too in this beauty treatment. Behind the Venetian blind "wall" may be a small single window now in the role of a luxurious "picture" window; there may be two or three windows, formerly divided, now united; or a window and fire escape door no longer a problem in unbalance.

Vanishing Defects

The drapery wall may conceal any number of things, from unsightly pipes and wall jogs, to closet doors and useless fireplaces.

Draw draperies will provide easy access to a closet or to built-in bookshelves—and at the same time reduce the infiltration of dust over books and precious records.

In some instances it may be desirable to hang the blind or the drapery a foot or two out from the original wall. This may prove a blessing to persons living in cramped quarters; what is lost in floor area is gained in welcome storage space behind the new dramatic backdrops.

Many lovely gifts were received by the bride and groom for their new home.

Those who sent gifts, but could not attend were Mr. and Mrs. McClure of Memphis, Tennessee, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pittman, Buena Park, and Mrs. Alice Stanglin of Long Beach.

DR. J. L. HEID NAMED HEAD OF GOLDEN CITRUS JUICES

Dr. J. L. Heid, recognized as one of the outstanding authorities on citrus juice processing, was named this week to the position of general manager of Golden Citrus Juices, Inc., Fullerton, California.

Golden Citrus Juices, Inc. was jointly formed by American Fruit Growers, Inc. and the Eadington Fruit company, one of the largest shippers of fresh citrus in California, for the prime purpose of constructing and operating a citrus juice processing plant. This plant is now nearing completion and will shortly be in full operation.

The plant that Dr. Heid will manage is the first in California to be designed and built specifically to process citrus fruits into frozen concentrates.

New improvement in Robins Cleaners is a rack which is inclosed to handle clothes and dry cleaning.

Mrs. Howard Smith, long-time friend of Mrs. Mabelle Dyer, 9092 Watson St., visited her Tuesday. Mrs. Smith, formerly of Los Angeles but now of Laguna Beach, and Mrs. Dyer enjoyed luncheon at Welch's in Long Beach.

EASTER

Another Easter brings the vision
Of Christ ascending from the earth.
Another Spring lends its transition
To the miracle of rebirth.

Christ is risen! The frozen river
Breaks and surges to the sea.
Christ is risen! Bird notes quiver
In ecstatic harmony.

Christ is risen! Stately mountains
Lift their hoary peaks to pray.
Sunlight gleams on splashing fountains
Delivered from their ice-bound spray.

All the fields are drenched in glory,
White and gold and purple bloom.
Everything recounts the story
Of Christ's triumph o'er the tomb.

God's spirit is forever breathing
On the earth, through winds and trees,
Through the waves incessant seething,
And the forceful sweep of seas.

Spring and Easter are repeating
The wonderment of Christ's rebirth;
His victory over death completing—
Resurrection sweeps the earth.

All the earth in exultation
Rings with rapture and with song;
Let men bow down in adoration,
Let hope return and faith be strong.

As Spring wakens in her splendour,
Let man waken from his fears,
Shed aside the garbs that render
Indecisions, doubts and tears.

Buoyant, let his spirit soaring,
Like a bird, unfettered, free,
Awaken now with love restoring,
And hope that springs eternally.

Let the hands of men united
Clasp in friendship and in peace,
And with brotherhood be plighted—
Let the warring factions cease.

What matters it what tongue is spoken,
What our skin, or how we pray?
We all love peace, and by this token
Live by love, and love obey.

Spring and Easter now unfurling,
With triumph over death the goal,
Is again the challenge hurling—
Resurrection of man's soul!

—Anna Lillian Singer

HEARING DATE SET

Planning commissioners for the county of Orange set April 21 at 2 p.m. as a date when they will hear George Brouwer's request for a permit for a fertilizer business on Walker St. and La Palma Ave. It is understood that a petition is being circulated locally against such action to be presented to the board of supervisors.

Also on April 21 at 2:15 p.m. a hearing has been set for a request by Alfred Giasomi to build a dairy on 20 acres of land on Lincoln Ave. and Hansen.

IMPRESSIVE RITES AT NAZARENE CHURCH

On Easter Sunday morning, the Cypress Church of the Nazarene held several services throughout the day, beginning with a sunrise service in the morning.

At the 11 o'clock morning worship hour, two special events took place. One was the dedication of babies, and the other a ceremony in which the mortgage for the building of the annex was burned. The Rev. W. D. Howard, pastor, commented on the fact that an amount of $5,000 had been raised in less than one and one-half years for a building which it was thought would take years to pay for.

At this service, also, Mrs. Irene Lewis was present to sing two special solos in honor of the Easter season.

Mrs. Ora Decker left this week for Medford, Oklahoma, to visit her sister. From there she expects to spend some time in Springville and Hannibal, Missouri each, visiting daughters and their families in both places. Besides several grandchildren, Mrs. Decker has two great grandchildren whom she has never seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Lucas were the first dinner guests of the J. E. Smiths in their new home at 727 west Broadway in Long Beach Saturday evening.

IOOF MEETING

Jack Junker will be host to prospective members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows lodge at an organizational meeting to be held in his home at 4871 Grace St. on Friday evening at eight o'clock.

A district official will be present to answer questions and give instruction in the organization.

Men interested in joining may contact Elmer Corby at his barber shop.

you see Edison owners everywhere

DOES THIS PICTURE strike a familiar chord—as one which could have been taken on your farm, or a farm you know of? Putting familiar faces in it would make it even more correct. Edison Company owners quite frequently meet and talk on the farms in your vicinity and others just like it. There are many thousands of them, you know—people of all ages, both sexes and in all walks of life. Most likely you are one of them, and many of the others are your friends and neighbors.*

*Included in the list of Edison's direct (stockholding) owners are people of just about every vocation—farmers, housewives, storekeepers, laborers, teachers and many others.

Lower Grades To See and Hear Indian Chief

Feeling that so many of the special programs at school are for the children in the upper grades, school officials have arranged a treat which will be primarily for those students in the lower classes.

On Thursday, April 20, a real Indian chief will entertain the youngsters. The admission price will be only 10c. Kindergarten, first, second and third grades in both morning and afternoon classes will be urged to attend.

Chief Chibiaboos of the Chippewa tribe, will be dressed in his beautiful beaded costume and his headdress made entirely of eagle feathers. He was born on the Turtle Mountain reservation in North Dakota and was graduated from the University of Minnesota.

The Chief will play the Indian drum and sing songs of the Navajo, Pueblo, Sioux and Chippewa tribes. He will also tell an Indian legend in sign language. Colorful dances of the various tribes will be performed by him, including one with some of the students as participants.

If the weather is nice, the lectures will be held out-of-doors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas motored to Azusa on Tuesday and thence up the mountain to Crystal lake.

Sixth Grade Loses Editor

By Rosalie Miller, 6-A

Donald Adams, editor in chief of the Cypress Globe moved to Garden Grove just before Easter vacation. Donald wrote many stories for the papers and we will miss his nice stories. The staff will have to elect a new editor in chief for the remaining issues of the paper.

Bobby Fitch, also a student of the sixth grade moved away during Easter vacation.

New residents at 5373 Camp St. in "Cypress cottages" are Mrs. Frances Bonedigy and Mrs. Marian Bandez and their mother, Mrs. Lorena C. Marshall. The three women moved here from Long Beach.

The fire alarm which sounded Tuesday proved to be a false alarm. A member of the Cypress Volunteer Fire department reported there was no one on the line.

FALL RESULTS IN SUIT FILED AGAINST KNOTT'S BERRY FARM

Walter Knott and family were named defendants in a suit filed Superior court this week by Samuel A. Beahr. The complaint asks $16,000 damages resulting from a fall suffered, he claims, on August 8, in the covered wagon ring.

The suit alleges that the only accessway to the covered wagon ring consists of irregular steps and incline which caused Beahr to fall, suffering a broken wrist and bruises. He asks $10,000 general damages, $1,000 medical bill and $5,000 loss of earnings.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ehrig, winter residents at the Winfield trailer park from Iowa, spent the school Easter vacation with their sons Gaylen and Virgil on a motor trip to Sequoia, Yosemite and Lancaster.

COUNTY COMMENT

By GEORGE E. HART,
Orange County Press Bureau

How to stay healthy? Maybe you'd never guess it, but it is all very simple.

No, it has nothing to do with avoiding downtown traffic, except in a way maybe it has. But it doesn't concern H-bombs—well wait a minute. Strike that out, too. Let's start over.

How to stay healthy? By avoiding worry over traffic, H-bombs, war, crime, cancer and communists. That's how.

But how, for Pete's sake, can you avoid all those ingredients of modern living? That's what you want to know, quick.

Read the ENTERPRISE

So, it's all very simple. Just read your local weekly newspaper. Or, rather ,read just your local weekly paper.

Keep away from the heavy traffic, sure. But also, and maybe more important, keep away from these sensational metropolitan daily newspapers with their headlines scaring the daylights out of you every morning and evening, hammering your brain with all the ills and evils and alarms with which this poor, tired world is overstuffed.

So, early to bed and early to rise—and read nothing but your local weekly newspaper — to be healthy, a little more wealthy, and just as wise.

Read the ENTERPRISE

Don't take our word for all this. There is scientific authority for the foregoing remarks. It was advocated on the radio the other day by an eminent M.D. (Not an M.C.) The doctor prescribed the weekly newspaper for all his listeners, probably the first time that printer's ink has ever been administered to patients.

But the doctor was really serious. He had proof that his advice was sound. A San Diego housewife had written him some months earlier, saying that her husband, a school teacher, was on the verge of a nervous breakdown over the H-bomb and a lot of other hazards dinned into its horrified ears by the sensation-loving daily papers. The children, too, had the galloping meemies and were all upset. They had nightmares. In these nightmares they didn't see the hob-goblins that people have in conventional childish dreams. These children saw Russians.

The doctor advised the family to repair without delay to some remote village far from crowds, and lay off the daily papers. He recommended several small communities in Colorado.

Several months later he received a grateful letter from the wife. The family had gone to a small Colorado town. Her husband was now completely well and ready to return to his job. The children weren't seeing any more Russians. (As for hob-goblins, she didn't say).

Read the ENTERPRISE

The only reading the family had done was in the local weekly paper, where there is neither space nor inclination to frighten the population half to death with bad news.

This department thinks it isn't necessary to go to Colorado to get away from it all. You don't have to run away from a daily paper. Just stop it. Quit paying for it. Then sit quietly in your home or your back yard and read your local weekly newspaper, to rest your nerves. Not that it will put you to sleep, but you will be able to sleep. And no Russians in bed with you.

You'll be able to sleep, that is, unless you live in an apartment house, with a few radiis scattered about.

Report Census in Halfway Mark

Taking of the census in this area is about 50 per cent complete this week, according to information released by George A. Bellis, area crew leader. The enumerators are experiencing practically no difficulty and progress is satisfactory, Bellis stated.

Covering Buena Park are Mrs. Will Sanbury and Mrs. Ransom Hatch, with Byron T. Crowell canvassing the immediate rural area.

Cypress is being counted by Mrs. Patricia Holetz and the rural area is the responsibility of Roy O. King.

Stanton area is canvassed by Mrs. Anthony Parra and Mrs. Jack McCoy.

Bellis has conducted schools of instruction for all enumerators in his area and makes test calls to check thoroughness of the work. No information regarding results can be issued locally, he pointed out. Only the census bureau itself can release final figures after all compiling is finished.

THIS AND THAT—

CHURCHES RALLY

The Full Gospel churches of Orange county met last Friday in the Anaheim High School auditorium in a "Good Friday rally." From the 30 cooperating churches, approximately 1000 laymen and 25 pastors and evangelists were present.

The recently organized Full Gospel Ministerial association of Orange county was the sponsor, and is planning further rallies to be held in the future.

The Cypress Assembly of God church, of which the Reverend C. G. Eigenhuis is pastor, is a member of this group and attended the rally.

EASTER EGG HUNT

Miss Marian Fender entertained a group of children at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fender at 5302 Bishop St., last Friday. In the nature of an Easter egg hunt, the affair honored Oliver, Walter, Dean and Baby Boy Wills, of San Pedro. They were accompanied by their grandmother Mrs. Charles Wills and their mother, Mrs. Gertrude Wills.

Other children invited to join in the fun were Donna Rogers, Judy and Ellen Head, and Jerry and Ardith Hambly.

SPECIAL MEETING
